[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, July 15.—That President Taft "stands right where he has stood all along," and will insist upon a corporation tax amendment, is the substance of a report made to the tariff conference today by Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne.

The leaders were at the White House last night, having been summoned by the president to explain the persistent rumor that the corporation tax proposition was in danger of being dropped in the conference.

REGISTRATIONS FOR RESERVATION LANDS

Thousands Get In Line For The Last Big Opening Of Public Domain Country Will Ever See

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Spokane, Wash., July 15.—This was the first day of registration for the Indian lands soon to be opened by the government in the Spokane reservation, Washington; the Flathead reservation, Montana; and the Coeur d'Alene in Idaho. The throwing open for settlement of these immense tracts—more than 750,000 acres of desirable farming land—has created widespread interest and large numbers of people are already going into the country to locate desirable places, which they will ask the government to give to them should they draw one of the lucky numbers. The registration will continue until Aug. 5. The places of registration are Kalispell and Missoula, Mont., for the Flathead lands; Spokane for the Spokane land, and Coeur d'Alene for the lands of the Coeur d'Alene reservation.

The drawing will commence Aug. 9 and continue until completed.

The fact that this is the last big opening of the country ever has created interest to the extent that the three reservations to be opened the Flathead is by far the largest. There are 1,350,000 acres, long the home of the remnants of three or four tribes of Indians. The government has reserved the timber lands, and about 200,000 acres has been allotted the Indians. The remainder, 1,150,000 acres will be offered the settlers.

The reservation lies in Flathead county, in the northwestern part of Montana, and on the west side of the main range of the Rocky Mountains. The great valley is protected from strong winds and storms by the mountains on all sides, and it enjoys the warm, modifying influence of the Pacific ocean to a marked degree in winter. The soil of the valley is a dark, rich loam on a clay subsoil, usually without rock or gravel. The rainfall is usually ample to raise most crops without irrigation.

The Spokane reservation occupies the southern part of Stevens county, Washington, about thirty miles from this city. It is bordered on the south by the Spokane river, east by Chama creek and west by the Columbia river. It contains about 50,000 acres of agricultural land and also considerable timberland. The soil is sandy with a little white clay intermingled. The climate is very similar to that of the rest of the Spokane valley, but there are no high winds, as the lands are protected by mountain ranges on either side. The land will be most valuable for fruit raising. Soil, climate and altitude favor it especially available for growing. With proper cultivation all small fruits may be grown. There is also a mineral belt, containing the great lodges of the Deer Trail country.

The Coeur d'Alene reservation is located about eighteen miles southeast of Spokane. It includes some of the finest farm lands in Idaho, parts of it being now valued at $100 an acre. While the Coeur d'Alene Indians have been allotted nearly all of the best land, it is estimated that there will be about 1,000 good farms for white settlers. Some valuable timber land is found on the reserve.

LIGHTNING BOLT KILLED MOTORMAN

Frank Peterson Struck Down at South Milwaukee While Receiving Orders at a Telephone.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milwaukee, Wis., July 15.—Receiving orders from the train dispatcher at a telephone installed in a small box on an iron pole in South Milwaukee at 6:30 o'clock this morning, Frank Peterson, a motorman on an interurban trolley car, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. Peterson was 45 years old and lived with his wife in the city. The body is now at the morgue and is entirely devoid of any marks, scar or burn to indicate that he suffered from the bolt of lightning.

REFORMATORY GUARD BEFORE THE BOARD

Frank Boyd at Green Day Denies Knocking Down or Kicking John Smith Who Died on June 19.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Green Bay, Wis., July 15.—Guard Frank Boyd, who lives with Assistant Superintendent A. E. Beckford, and who is accused of manslaughter in the case of John Smith, testified this morning before the state board of control that any order given him came from Superintendent Beckford. He testified that John Smith was placed in confinement on June 15th and 16th, remaining there until 11:30 o'clock on the morning of June 17th.

He died on June 19th. Smith was in the cage on June 19th, but was released at night. Boyd denied that Smith had been in the cage during the week of his death and he denied having knocked Smith down or kicking him. Boyd claims the convicts who had testified, either had a pretty strong imagination or else were not telling the truth.

STATE JOBS THAT ARE HARD TO FILL

F. E. Doty, Secretary of Wisconsin Civil Service Commission, Seeks Applicants Here.

F. E. Doty, secretary of the state civil service commission, delivered an address before the teachers' institute at the high school this morning. Mr. Doty is traveling about the state in search of applicants for positions as engineers, veterinarians, industrial teachers, stenographers, and particularly as attendants in the hospitals for the insane and other state institutions. There are from 300 to 400 of these latter positions and the vacancies which are occurring from day to day are difficult to fill. Many worthy people, he thinks, are deterred from making application for these places by the business fear that they cannot pass examinations and qualify. As a matter of fact the examinations for attendants amount to little more than a conversation with one of the examiners, there being no written quizzes, and strong, healthy people of good character will have no difficulty in "making good." A man and wife can earn, together, $50 a month with food, light, heat, etc., all provided by the state. Just at the present time, also, the authorities are out hunting for a woman who has the ability, patience, and kindly spirit to teach sewing and fancy needlework to the female patients in one of the asylums. An examination for engineers, veterinarians, stenographers, etc., is to be held here in every other county seat on Saturday. The salaries paid by the state to the best stenographers range from $1,500 to $1,800 but are not sufficient by large to attract the requisite number.

In some manner the steering gear balked and when the car came to a halt it was facing directly west with the front wheels touching the railings leading to the Myers House basement and the rear wheels still in the gutter. No one was injured but the left driving wheel of the car was completely demolished.

BISHOP BOWMAN IS 92 YEARS OF AGE

Celebrates Anniversary At Orange, N. J.—Has Attended Conventions In Every State.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Orange, N. J., July 15.—(Light Rev. Dr. Thomas Bowman, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal denomination, celebrated his ninety-second birthday today at the home of his son-in-law, Burna D. Caldwell, in this city. Bishop Bowman's birthplace was in Columbia county, Pennsylvania. He was graduated from Dickinson College in 1837 and is the oldest living alumnus of that institution. He taught in Dickinson College from 1810 to 1811, and then went to Williamsport, Pa., where he founded the Dickinson Seminary, of which he was the first president. In 1850 he became president of Indiana Ashbury University and held the post for thirteen years. He was elected bishop thirty-seven years ago, since that time has attended in every state of the Union. He has traveled around the world twice, and has officiated at religious gatherings in Canada, Mexico, Europe, Japan, India and China. NTENARY OF THE BIRTH OF PROUDHON

Socialists In Paris and Elsewhere Celebrate Anniversary Of Radical Economist and Philosopher.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Paris, July 15.—The centenary of the birth of Proudhon, the philosopher and writer, was celebrated today in Paris and elsewhere. The observance was confined for the most part to the socialists.

Pierre Joseph Proudhon was born at Besancon on July 15, 1809. His radical writings began with an argument to show that "property is theft," on account of economic contradictions and an essay on the creation of social order. At the beginning of the revolution of 1848 he intervened in public affairs as editor of several daily journals, all of which were suppressed by the government. Proudhon fled to Switzerland, and on his return to France spent three years in prison. His death occurred at Passy in 1865. He is chiefly remembered as the founder of what has since been called individualistic or philosophical anarchy.

LOST SON RETURNS TO CLAIM FORTUNE

Daniel D. Russell Of North Dakota Lays Claim To Portion Of Big Estate Near Boston.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Boston, Mass., July 15.—A contest that promises to develop into a notable fight for a fortune came up for hearing today in the probate court of Middlesex county. The case is that of Daniel Blake Russell of North Dakota, who claims to be the son of the late Daniel Russell of Melrose. His claim is disputed by William G. Russell, who has failed to recognize in the North Dakota man his long missing brother.

The older Russell died fourteen years ago, leaving an estate valued at half a million dollars. The fortune was left to the son, William G. Russell, with the provision that if the second son, Daniel Russell, who had long been lost sight of, should return he was to be given half the property.

Several months ago the North Dakota man appeared in Melrose and set up a claim for the fortune, alleging that he was the long missing son. He claimed that he had run away from home many years ago after a quarrel with his father and had only recently learned of the latter's death. He is said to have been identified by many of the older residents of Melrose and in talks with them he recalled many of the incidents of his youth.

Despite these proofs, however, William G. Russell has failed to recognize the man as his brother and intends to fight the claim for half the estate.

Two-score bands interspersed the procession and there were also many magnificent floats. Illustrative of the cities whose lodges provided them.

ST. SWITHIN'S DAY AND LORE THEREOF

According To Tradition Today's Weather Determines That Of Six Weeks To Follow.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Today is St. Swithin's Day, which is the reason why household fans, owners of summer resorts and others who want fair weather are particularly interested. For, if there is any truth in venerable proverb, the weather on St. Swithin's day determines the weather for the following 42 days. If it is fair, for 40 days there will be clear skies and little rain, while if the day is rainy, there will be an abundance of wet weather for the next 40 days.

The day takes its name from St. Swithin, who was bishop of Winchester. In the old Winchester Cathedral, behind the roodloft, or place for the shrines of patron saints, is a stone platform, where formerly stood the shrine of St. Swithin and St. Berinus. The legend concerning the weather arose from the moving of St. Swithin's body from the local grave in the churchyard to the golden shrine in the cathedral being delayed by continuous rain, which began the day on which the transfer of the remains was to take place and continued without intermission for forty days.

INQUEST WAS HELD WITHOUT AUTHORITY

And District Attorney McDonald Of Oshkosh Refuses To Sign Certificates For Jurors and Witnesses.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Oshkosh, Wis., July 15.—District Attorney McDonald of this city has refused to sign certificates for the jurors and witnesses who took part in an inquest on the death of Anna C. Delany, a girl 8 years old, who fell from a rowboat and was drowned in a fall race of the Gilbert Paper Co. in Menasha, June 19. The body was recovered and County Coroner T. J. Phillips held an inquest without authority of the district attorney. The latter secured an opinion from the Attorney General, which states that a coroner's jury is not legally impaneled if the district attorney does not authorize it. The jurors and witnesses will have to take the matter up with the county board.

MISSISSIPPI CHAUTAUQUA OPENS AT CRYSTAL SPRINGS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Crystal Springs, Miss., July 15.—The fifteenth annual session of the Mississippi Chautauqua assembly opened today, to continue until the end of the month. The program is regarded as the best ever arranged for a meeting of the assembly. Included among the prominent speakers to be heard are ex-Governor Yates of Illinois, ex-Governor Vardaman of Mississippi, Prof. J. N. Powers, State superintendent of education of Mississippi, and J. B. Aswell, former superintendent of education of Louisiana.

New York, July 15.—This was the seventy-sixth birthday of ex-Senator Thomas C. Platt. He passed it very quietly at Freehold, N. J., where he is spending the summer. During many years that he was a leader in politics Mr. Platt never ventured very far from the metropolis for his vacation. He invariably spent the summer at the Oriental Hotel, Manhattan Beach, where he could easily keep his hand on every cog and wheel of the Republican state organization. He never found time to go abroad and has always taken pride in the fact that he is about the only public man of prominence who has not visited Europe.

THAW DID THREATEN TO KILL HIS WIFE

Evelyn So Testifies on the Witness Stand This Afternoon at His Sanity Hearing.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] White Plains, July 15.—Evelyn Nesbitt Thaw again took the witness stand this afternoon as a witness for the state in the hearing on Harry K. Thaw's mental condition.

Justice Mills ruled Mrs. Thaw could answer the questions the state desired to ask her regarding the alleged threat to kill her made by Harry Thaw during a conversation at Mattawoman.

Mrs. Thaw asked if she could not claim privilege in refusing to answer on the ground that to reply would tend to incriminate her. The court ruled she could not.

Mrs. Thaw was asked if Thaw had not made such a threat and she said: "Yes, he did."

CONVENTION WILL OPEN TOMORROW

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION DELEGATES WILL CONVEY ON FRIDAY.

MAKE PILGRIMAGE SATURDAY

Are to Make Demonstration Through Streets in Afternoon, Then Visit Frances Willard Home.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Janesville is to be invaded by the hosts of the Loyal Temperance Legion. With them will be the officers of the W. C. T. U. The vanguard will arrive tonight, but the majority of the delegates and officers will reach the city in the morning when the sessions will be formally opened in the St. Peter's English Lutheran church.

It is from a sentimental reason that this church has been selected for the meeting place, namely, that it formerly was the home of the first Methodist church, the structure in which Frances Willard worshipped when she lived near Janesville. While the building is now owned by the English Lutheran church and has been remodeled and redecorated for the members of the Loyal Temperance Legion and the W. C. T. U. the spirit of the great leader of the temperance work in the United States will be present at their deliberations.

Friday afternoon the delegates will have registered and the work of the gathering really begun with the reading of reports and general business. Friday evening comes the contest for the Junior gold medal at the Carroll Methodist church. Saturday morning comes the election of officers for the ensuing year and other important business.

In the afternoon carnyalls will be provided and all the delegates and visiting members of the two orders will be taken to the old Frances Willard home, leaving the English Lutheran church at one-thirty. Previous to the departure from the city the members will make a demonstration on the streets and many will march for several blocks before taking the carnyalls and wagons for the pilgrimage.

At the Frances Willard home memorial services will be held under the direction of Miss Margaret Wintringer of Evanston, national secretary of the Loyal Temperance Legion. The old school house where Miss Willard first studied and, later, taught, will then be visited and a short prayer service held. The Eagle's nest will be another place of interest, where Miss Willard signed the temperance pledge, which today is signed by over half a million young people of the United States.

Saturday evening, at the Congregational church, will be held the Senior gold medal oratorical contest, at which eight young ladies will compete. They are all graduates from schools of oratory and a specially good program is expected.

On Sunday evening at the Baptist church the union meeting will be held in charge of the young men, Fred Holt of Janesville, A. Arnett Northrup of Chicago, and H. K. Barrett of the University of Wisconsin being three of the speakers. The music will be furnished by the young men of the city.

Twelve young ladies of Janesville and vicinity are going to make happy, and it is up to you, readers of Janesville and vicinity, to decide whom they are to be.

PUFFS

Diverging theories of household economies were freely discussed by a little coterie of ladies at the Country Club the other evening.

"I have been pitting and canning cherries all day," said one of them. "Aren't they just terrible this season?" So worried that one must be on one's guard every minute, and with all your precautions, you have a sort of a creepy feeling at the flash that some of the bugs have gotten by."

"Oh shucks, Maude!" exclaimed another of the fair ones, "What's the use of being so finicky about a few small worms? They come to the top, anyway, when the pot begins to boil and all you have to do is to skin them off with a spoon! I don't eat canned cherries, myself, and dear old Hubby will never know the difference."

SAW GLIDDEN TOURISTS AND THE ELKS' CIRCUS

John F. Sweeney Was a Visitor in Milwaukee Yesterday—B. P. O. E.

Likely to Pocket a Big Lot of Money Yesterday and witnessed the demonstration arranged for the Glidden tourists.

Under the direction of the city's professional advertiser, short order refreshments were provided at a tent raised for the occasion and the "Milwaukee—A Bright Spot" placards were attached to all of the automobiles before they sped away for Madison.

Mr. Sweeney also attended the B. P. O. E. circus in the evening. The Elks, he says, paid $10,000 for a week of the show's time and are going to land "in the hole."

The management now realizes, with keen regret, that it ought to have advertised and worked up a special performance for each of six neighboring cities, as Milwaukee, unassisted, is hardly good for a three days' run of any sort of a performance.

STEPHEN FANNING'S LOSS ADJUSTED THIS MORNING

Insurance Co. Pays $2,730 for Destruction of Barn and Granary Early Tuesday Morning.

On a basis of $2,730 the loss incurred by the fire at the Stephen Fanning farm at an early hour Tuesday morning was adjusted this forenoon by J. S. Stratton of Des Moines, Ia., representing the Des Moines Fire Insurance Co., and Alderman James W. Scott.

Unconsciously scintillating trouble from afar, Mr. Stratton blew into the city yesterday an hour or two after a telegram had been sent to the company headquarters. The building burned was not built when Francis Willard lived on the farm, that structure having been destroyed years ago.

SCIENCE NOTES

Persons awakening in the night are invariably curious about the time, and the newest hotel convenience has for its object the gratification of this universal desire. A small telephone receiver is placed at the head of the bed and if desired may be placed under the pillow, a connection being maintained with a master clock in the office of the hotel.

Placing this instrument to the ear and touching a button results in setting into operation a set of bells which chime the hour, the quarter hour and the minutes past the quarter.

On the sheep ranches of Australia it is found impracticable to perform the shearing when there is any great amount of water in the wool, and various means are made use of for the purpose of determining the amount of water in the wool before commencing work. In this connection a new method has been recently devised which consists of a novel use of the properties of calcium carbide. A little wool is clipped off, weighed, and mixed thoroughly with an excess of calcium carbide in a suitable apparatus.

The acetylene produced by the reaction of the carbide with the water in the wool is determined by measuring its volume at constant pressure, by means of a scale so graduated as to give directly the proportion of water in the wool.

The wrenches of the German Navy will no longer be fitted with the long-collared upon magnetic compasses, but instead there will be used the gyroscopic compass, which was invented by Dr. Hergesheim, which in practice has shown a greater degree of accuracy. During a nine-month cruise of the battleship Deutschland the magnetic compass, although left entirely to itself, maintained its true direction for a month. The device consists of a three-pound wheel, mounted with the usual compass card in a holder of quicksilver.

An electric motor rotates the wheel at 21,600 turns a minute. After it has run for two hours, the instrument is set in the direction of the mathematical north, which position it keeps undisturbed, unaffected by neighboring iron and steel, and unresponsive to vibration and rolling.

Aluminum-coated steel sheets are the product of Pennsylvania company and they have been adopted by the United States government for use in the construction of vessels. The coating is applied at a very high temperature when the metal has great fluidity and the sheet of metal is not only rendered rustproof, but also much more durable. The coating applied hot makes a very serviceable covering which withstands all kinds of hard usage without fracturing, as it has penetrated into the surface of the steel.

The United States Engineering Corps has reported favorably on a project to connect and make Seattle a seaport by the construction of a canal to the Puget Sound by way of Salmon Bay. The scheme consists of a canal connection between Puget Sound and Washington, the difference of the levels being overcome by lowering the water of the latter body, and also of the creation of a channel through Salmon Bay. The only lock necessary will be at the entrance to Salmon Bay. The cost of the project is estimated at three and a half million.

Farmers' Institutes.

Any farmer or public-spirited business man in Wisconsin who wishes to secure an institute for his locality during the winter of 1909-1910 should send to us for a blank petition and letter of information. Any town, no matter how far from the railroad or how small, is entitled to an institute, provided it is located in a farming district and has a good hall in which a meeting can be held.

Farmers should talk this matter up with their neighbors and if the sentiment seems favorable for an institute for their town should write us at once for application blank.

PHONOGRAPH NEEDLE

Made of Fiber and Gives Soft Tone Without Scratching Discs.

A phonograph needle that has two advantages to recommend it has recently been placed on the market. It is a three-cornered affair, about an inch long, and is made of fiber. The advantages claimed for it are that it not only saves a great deal of wear on the records, but produces a sweeter, softer tone, and is especially effective on flute and violin solos. Being made of fiber, the needle naturally wears itself away on the harder surfaces of the records without scratching them.

CUT IT OFF AS IT WEARS.

As one corner of the needle wears away another can be turned down and when all three are worn a tiny piece is cut off the end of the needle with a cutter that comes for the purpose and it is as good as new. The needles can be used until they are quite short. Indeed, the shorter they are the louder the tone. Instead of cutting a disc they polish it and there is an entire absence of the unpleasant rasping sound that spoils so many phonograph exhibitions.

Things Needful for Success. It does not matter whether you are a plowman or a statesman. The one is as necessary to the world as the other. And the former when entered upon with the right spirit and pursued with honest intent can be made a shining success, while the latter may degenerate into a dismal failure if it has not character, integrity and determination to succeed at the back of it.

Successful Riveting of China.
Riveting china is an extremely difficult and delicate operation and one that requires considerable skill and experience. It is to be performed successfully. In drilling the holes the safest plan is to immerse the china completely in water, so as to avoid fracturing it. No chemical is used to eat away the glaze; a good sharp drill with a fine point is all that is needed. For riveting, white metal wire, which may be had from any large metal dealer, is used. This wire is comparatively soft and can be rivotted without hammering it too heavily. All the tools required are a drill, a hammer, a supply of wire and a pair of cutting pliers.

High Ideals Should Be Guide.
In the adoption of a profession or trade another important fact not to be overlooked is the end to which your selection will lead. Let high ideals be your guide. lofty motives your ambition. A man may profitably work for money, but money and social position are the lowest imaginable ideals. When you have fixed upon your purpose go fearlessly onward. Don't mind sneers and taunts and calumnies. Weave your crown with the garlands of obstacles conquered and difficulties overcome.

To the Man Who Has Never Owned a Motor Car

You are fortunate to be planning now to buy your first motor car. You have escaped all the grief and expense suffered by owners of cars in the process of development. It is your opportunity to buy a perfected high grade car, a car infinitely superior to previous standards, and to buy that car at a price lower than is asked for several of the old style models.

Some new buyers think it wise to purchase a car first for experience. But why make experience unnecessarily expensive?

To buy a car first for experiment was wise when all automobiles were experimental. Then, all buyers took risks and cautious ones took the least risk by purchasing the lowest priced cars.

Today conditions are different. The experimental features have been overcome in the "OVERLAND 32."

Profit by the experience of other car buyers. Every one of them who can possibly do so, sells his experiment as quickly as he can, in order to buy a satisfactory car.

Buy the right car first and you buy a car to use (not to sell at a loss)—one in which depreciation need not figure. For this good car will have in it so many years of life and satisfactory service that it will have paid for itself before you will require its successor.

You can make your purchase of an automobile a safe investment by selecting an "OVERLAND, Model 32," at $1500.

Suppose you get particulars about it? Literature and demonstration free.

TO ALL USERS OF FLOUR

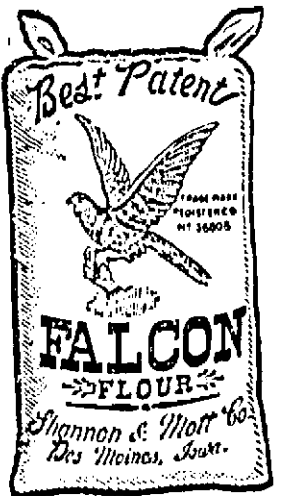

We are now selling more Flour than any other one store in the city. Why? Because we are selling the which is one of the very best and from 10c to 25c per sack less.

We intend to sell a larger portion. How? Commencing Monday, July 19, we will have a lady at our store to demonstrate to all just what the Flour is. That it is the equal, if not a little better than the Flour you are now using, we care not what the brand. She will be here all that week.

Every family using Flour is cordially invited to witness the demonstration and see for yourself. We claim to make just as white bread, just as sweet, and just as many loaves to the sack as any Flour in the city.

QUALITY OF FALCON

The Columbus Laboratories of Chicago made the following test using the best patent flour made as a standard by which to test Falcon:

CHICAGO, Aug. 25, 1900.
SHANNON & MOTT COMPANY, Des Moines, Iowa.
Dear Sirs: We beg leave to report on Comparative Flour Test as follows:

	Standard Spring Patent.	Sample Number 6941
Gluten—Per Cent	10.5	10.2
Ash—Per Cent	1.5	1.3
Absorption—Per Cent	62	62
Color	100.0	100.0
Loaves Per Barrel	100.0	100.0
Size of Loaf	100.0	100.0
Quality of Loaf	100.0	100.0
Average Value	100.0	98.5
Fermenting Period	100.0	101.5
Quality of Gluten	100.0	101.5

NOTE.—In the above report the gluten and the ash are expressed as parts in each one hundred parts of the flour. The absorption is the amount of water necessary to add to one hundred parts of the flour to make a dough of standard stiffness. The remaining values are so expressed as to show the relations to the standard flour which for the purpose is given a value of 100 per cent. The loaves produced are made under carefully controlled and uniform conditions and baked in accurately graduated baking cylinders in an electric oven. The value expressed as quality of loaf is based upon the color, flavor and texture of the bread. The AVERAGE VALUE expressed in per cent is the mean value of color, loaves per barrel, size of loaf and quality of loaf. It should not be taken alone in comparing the value of flours, but each of the factors of which it is made up should receive consideration.

GENERAL REMARKS: 6941 is sample marked Falcon. Aug. 22, 1900. Very respectfully submitted,

THE COLUMBUS LABORATORIES,
J. A. W.

MUCH EXERCISED

The New York Wall Street Journal is much exercised over the possibility of the income tax and other proposed direct tax propositions becoming laws. In a recent issue it takes up the matter as follows:

"It may be laid down as an axiom, self-evident on its face, that nobody likes paying taxes. In any organized form of society taxes must be imposed, and the whole problem is how to place them where the burden will be easiest borne. This looks like an argument in favor of indirect taxation, but a little examination will show that because the taxpayer is ignorant of the exact amount of the impost, and precisely how he pays it, it does not follow that the burden is easily borne. Indirect taxes in fact are always the heaviest, although we have not yet succeeded in making the average citizen recognize this fact. We have carried the evasion of taxes to scientific lengths in this country. It is like the old-fashioned children's game of 'bluff,' where the last holder of that article pays forfeit. Under our present system the last holder is the small consumer and, to prevent any possible mistake, we saw the button on him with American thread. This is not to say that the small consumer or any other person of limited means should be exempt from taxation. On the contrary it would be a great deal better for the country and would tend to purify and economy in government if every voter paid direct taxes."

"Taxes in New York city, for instance, tend to fall to an utterly unwarrantable degree upon holders of real estate. These are, of course distributed as far as possible, so that the tenant pays his rent. The storekeeper pays so much more for the privilege of doing business, and collects the municipal taxes from every workman's wife who buys a dozen eggs or a pair of stockings. The trouble is that the workman's wife has been taught to think that some terrible power (called 'the trusts') is alone responsible for high prices. She does not dream of connecting the extravagant cost of living with the wasteful administration of the city's affairs. A federal income tax will at least be submitted to the various state legislatures, although the question of securing the necessary majority of consents will be open for debate for a long time to come. The tax is unquestionably sound in principle, and it will be highly unpopular in practice. It is so in Great Britain, but it may be said that it does not lead to one-tenth the amount of perjury which our imbecile personal property tax generates in New York state. It does stimulate a direct interest in the economical administration of government, just as a better system of imposing municipal taxes insures that London is run at one-fourth the cost of the city of New York to the taxpayer."

"What we want is a tax which cannot be shifted to other shoulders. In this respect the tariff, however valuable for infant, not to say smothering, industries, is among the worst of all taxes; while a municipal tax directly on the tenant, who is also the voter, and an income tax which reaches the man of small income are, in point of efficiency, the best type of imposts which human intelligence has yet devised. The poor are always extravagant with other people's money, because they have not had the opportunity to learn the value of money. Popular municipal administration seeks to obtain popularity by free expenditure among people who can reciprocate at the polls. If every small voter paid his taxes direct but bought cheaper shoes for the children, and paid a correspondingly lower rent, we should probably see a reduction of 50% in the number of city employees with some of the plums of the political game out of politics altogether."

WATCH OPPORTUNITIES

It is the duty of every businessman to watch for opportunities to further his own business. If he does not do so then he is considered an old fogy and soon his store door is locked and a sheriff's sale sign appears in his front window. There is no reason why a municipality can not be run on the same principles as a business and why a man can not be employed who will look out for opportunities to benefit the general business of the city. It is policy to keep pace with the times, to install new machinery in a factory that seeks to compete with more modern concerns, to away with the old hide-bound ideas of a half century ago and keep in the running. A plow manufacturer would not exist long in business if he made the same style plow he did fifty years ago—if he worked his factory in the same methods he did when he began. The world has progressed and in order to keep in the race for the dollar he must improve his plant and obtain modern ideas.

The Janesville businessman could well afford to contribute a sum individually, which collectively would be sufficient to meet the needs, and employ a live, wide-awake, up-to-date, advertising agent—a man who would be on the lookout for opportunities, who would see a chance for a convention coming to Janesville, of the possible location of a new factory here, or a thousand one things that would increase the business and population of the city.

The modern civic press agent, secretary of a civic league, of a businessman's club or a manufacturers' organization, whatever you choose to call him, has come to stay and it is the cities who grasp this opportunity first that will make the most rapid strides in progress and improvement. Janesville at present has an opportunity of entertaining the Fire Insurance Agents' state gathering this fall, of having the 1941 convention of the Eagles. If the city had a good man in charge of a bureau designed to meet such emergencies he could work with members of these associations with a view of seeking the gatherings. Janesville needs advertising. The old idea that we have gone along for fifty years doing very nicely should be forgotten. The talk that business is good is not sufficient. It wants to be better. The merchants and businessmen of the city should not be content to have it good—they should have it the best that can be obtained.

Organize a Boosters' club. Boom Janesville first, last and always. Stand ready to do your share in boosting your home town and then watch the results. This can not be done by a few, but by many and what benefits your neighbor will indirectly benefit you. When your neighbor makes money in his business he will spend some of his profits in yours, so all will be benefited. A good live hustling business agent could work wonders.

Once upon a time a child who was asked upon an examination paper to define a mountain range replied: "A large-sized cook stove." The same method of reasoning seems to go with older growth. A recent examination paper at the Sheffield Scientific school at Yale contained the question: "What is the office of the gastric juice?" And the answer on one paper said: "The stomach."—Everybody's Magazine.

Heart to Heart Talks.

WHAT A MERE MAN DID.

History repeats itself. There is the old story of Darby and Joan, husband and wife, each dissatisfied, exchanged their labors for a day, with salutary effect.

In St. Louis William O'Day and wife made a permanent exchange. Mr. O'Day, plain and fancy cook, dry storekeeper, housekeeper, etc., did the work in the home, while Mrs. O'Day fared forth as the family breadwinner. O'Day's daily schedule, as told to the police judge, was as follows:

4 a. m.—Arises and prepares breakfast, making biscuits and pancakes, frying eggs, meats, etc.

5:30 a. m.—Wakes wife, gives her breakfast.

7:30 a. m.—Wakes his three sons and after giving them breakfast sends them to school; eats his own breakfast.

7:30 to 11 a. m.—Cleans house, sweeping, dusting, washing windows.

11 a. m.—Goes marketing, buys for the whole day and breakfast next morning.

12 noon.—Prepares dinner for children and self and puts things in order.

1 to 4 p. m.—Mends children's torn stockings and clothes, makes trousers for sons, makes pies and cakes for evening meal.

7:30 p. m.—Finishes with supper dishes and after reading and talking goes to bed at 9 p. m.

There, now!

In William O'Day's strenuous program "woman-works from sun to sun, but man's work is never done."

William got the worst of the swap. However, there's a sequel.

William had been doing this work for how long? Eighteen months! He got tired. Who wouldn't get tired—man or woman?

So it said furthermore there was a boarder at the house, besides the home folks.

Well, William got so very tired of his thin pins and dusters that one day he got drunk and chased the boarder—a woman—out of the house with his butcher knife.

That was why William was in police court.

He told the judge how he volunteered, being out of work, to become the family housekeeper while Mrs. O'Day assumed the wage earning position. And for a year and a half he patiently cooked, mended, did the family washing—including the boarder's—starched, ironed, swept—and finally grew weary.

And this court fined William O'Day:

The world was but a barren place before it knew my shining face, before I came, its people to be, and lend it decent dignity. I often wonder how the earth made progress ere it knew my birth; and how the people stood the strain, the stress, the sorrow and the pain, of living in this atmosphere when I was not residing here. Ah, well, they're dead and in their tombs; and here on earth my heavy toms, a shape of most majestic front, an Atlas at the same old stand, Supreme and radiant I stand; my elusive effluence fills the land; benignant ever in my nature, and ever in my soul serene, save when I think, ah, today; that some day I must pass away. Some day the torch that lights the world into the abyss will be hurled; then

At odds with George H. Earle.

Thomas B. Harned, as he was leaving the Federal building after pleading not guilty to indictments against him in connection with the sugar trust.

New York.—Thomas B. Harned the indicted counsel for Adolph Seid, president of the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company, has broken the last thread binding him to George H. Earle, Jr. Those familiar with the inside of the sugar trust investigation know that Mr. Earle's indictments because of the service he rendered the prosecution during Mr. Earle's case against the trust.

The trouble arose over an alleged interview, in which Harned took exception to the government's course and termed his own indictments as an outrage. He has since denied this interview, stating he was indisposed but in his denial he called the whole affair an agitation and this has nettled Earle to action. In an open letter signed by George Earle, Jr. he severely attacked Harned for his course.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THIS?

"The child with poor teeth probably will become the murderer, burglar or defector of the future."

"The embryo criminal may be changed into a preacher or a great civic teacher by a simple dental operation."

"The teeth of children charged with crime should be examined by an expert and if found defective they should be put in first-class order by the state."

So declared Dr. Henry J. Janusz, dentist, of Pittsburg, now in Chicago, to study the teeth of youthful offenders at the John Worthing school, the hallowed and defunct children of the schools.

Dr. Janusz says he can look at the teeth of a child and tell instantly what the criminal tendencies are, if any exist.

"After numerous tests I am convinced that it is more important to look after a child's teeth than to send him to Sunday school or a reformatory," he explained. "The teeth of the majority of children are neither properly cleaned nor regulated."

DANGEROUS MADMAN II
MADE HIS ESCAPE

Old Oberg Eluded Attendants at Rock County Asylum Yesterday and is Afloat at Large.

Old Oberg, who has long been an inmate of the Rock county insane asylum and who was not re-entrained for the period of a year after his escape about four years ago, is again at large. He eluded the attendants while supposed to be on his way to the hospital table yesterday morning and after securing his good clothing and other chattels from a locker by the aid of a key which he had filed to accurately fit the lock, walked out the back door and was nowhere to be seen when, later on, his absence from the hayfield was noted and an alarm was sounded.

Oberg is forty years of age and has living at Evansville a wife and children whom he threatened to destroy during one of his periods of violence several years ago. Having been apprised of his escape, the family will take precautions to guard against any attempt to do them injury, should he make his way to the old home.

He has a brother employed at the electric light company's plant at Fulton and a man answering to his description was seen moving in that direction along the highway. No further clue to his whereabouts had been obtained at a late hour last evening.

PLANS NEW RAILROAD LINES.

Northwestern Will Invade Wheat Regions of South Dakota.

New York, July 15.—The Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company has in contemplation, it is learned, the construction, within the next three or four years of several branch lines in South Dakota, to open up and develop new wheat farming lands.

Steps are now being taken to secure from the state of South Dakota, charters for the various lines in contemplation. Those lines will be formed as independent companies and the cost of construction of the road will be advanced by the Chicago & Northwestern, which will subsequently take the roads over through leases. This procedure is made necessary by certain provisions in the Chicago & Northwestern's charter.

Believe Coffin Holds Mystery.
New York, July 15.—A son and two daughters, who did not share in the estate of Mrs. Caroline Schilling, who died at Brooklyn in 1896, announce that they will have the body exhumed, in the belief that Elizabeth Donegan, a domestic, who has been arrested, concealed several deeds and other papers in the coffin.

Noose Slips; Blayer Strangles.
Winchester, Mass., July 15.—Protesting his innocence to the last, Gary H. Barrett, who killed Deputy Warden Stedman in the Alameda penitentiary, April 13, was hanged in the Edmonton prison. The noose slipped and Barrett died by strangulation.

EXHAUSTING HIS SUBJECT.

PRECAUTION.
"Why do you always go out on the balcony when I begin to sing, John?"
"It isn't that, but I don't want the neighbors to think I'm a wife-beater."

Are You Thinking of a Business Education?

Do You Want the Right Kind of a Business Training?

Most any school can teach you bookkeeping, shorthand, and typewriting in fair shape.

But, is that ALL you need? Not by any means. Not one young person in a hundred really knows what goes to make a business course of greatest value to him; as few use care and judgment in choosing their future trainers.

Know what you want; find where it is; then get it. The most expensive part of conducting a live business school is not in hiring men to do the teaching, but in securing proper management.

And this is the thing that makes our business course worth more to you than that of any other school.

You first must get your business course; you next must use it. And there's the point—we show you how and where to use it. We do not leave you to your own experience; but give you all the aid you need to secure your first position.

Throughout all your stay with us, you'll see those little things we do to give you definite knowledge of the ways of business men. We break the ice for you and back you up in your days of first experience until you become initiated in the business game.

We keep an accurate record of every student. We learn his strong points and make a note of them, so when the time comes for your first position, we can bring those before the man who wants you, and impress him with your value.

Not every student has the same strong points; and should we do as most schools do, our students would do no better.

An observing automobile man asked us for a girl last Saturday. We asked him what he would pay and he replied: "It's not the pay that bothers me; it's the girl. If I get a girl that will answer the 'phone intelligently; who can order parts correctly; can get out my bills on time; can sell a gallon of lubricating oil if necessary; can write my letters neatly; I can see how she can earn as much as many foremen."

Now, can we send him any kind of a girl? Can we afford to overlook your good points that would make you fit this place? Can you afford to risk attending where you do not know to a certainty that all your brains, and all your special ability, will be watched, trained, and used?

And all this care and watching for your interests takes time, patience, money.

But when we see our students steadily working past the others, it makes us glad; and, surely, it's worth the candle.

Fifty-seven students placed since Christmas. Think what this means! Fifty-seven boys and girls trained well and started right!

And four this week, make sixty-one, and not a single one escaped this careful searching for their business talents.

And now we say to you that this is but a part of what we have to offer.

Think what it means to you to attend a school placed in the heart of a great manufacturing district from which the best positions are readily reached by 'phone and railroad.

A school whose owners are known to the employment managers of the best firms in the best cities.

A school that not only trains you and places you in a good position, but has an organization especially for assisting you to better positions as you grow.

A school that covers thoroughly the best and largest territory in the state with itself and branch schools. BARABOO. JANESVILLE-BELOIT BUSINESS COLLEGES, three good schools for business, all using the same Twentieth Century System of Bookkeeping, the same Gregg Lightline Shorthand, the same method of placing you in a good position, as we use at Beloit.

And back of all this, is the know-how, the personal guarantee, the reputation, the character, and personal attention of the men who have made the students of Beloit Business College so successful, W. H. and C. B. Williamson.

We are in this work to stay. All our money, all our friends, all our energies, all our everything, are in it with us.

And could you see, as clear-cut as we see, the opportunities of OUR future students—greater opportunities than most other students ever can have—you would feel that there will always be something lacking if you do not get our course and help.

And every word we say, we prove. Send for our Journal—it contains the proof. It records the progress of our students. In it you will find young men and women of no more chance than you; of no more brains than you; of no more pluck and commonsense than you. It will show what you can do, by what they have done.

It will tell you of Frank M. Thoreson, of Wiota, near Gratiot and South Wayne, who after only three months' experience, is earning $60 a month with the American Express Company.

It will tell you of Charles E. Baker, who only fifteen months ago started at $11 a week with the Minneapolis Tribune.

Both these boys were of bright, active minds; but it was their Beloit Business College training that bent their talents in the right direction. And their success must make plain what Beloit training can do for you.

Do not sign a contract, or accept a scholarship until you find out what we can do for you.

GEORGE H. EARLE, JR., WHO IS FIGHTING THE SUGAR TRUST, FROM A PICTURE JUST TAKEN AT HIS DESK.

Philadelphia, Pa.—George H. Earle, Jr., jumped into national fame with the winning of the $7,000,000 settlement for the Pennsylvania Refining company in their suit against the sugar trust. Now Mr. Earle is active in pushing the government proceedings against the sugar trust and his assistance is being eagerly sought. He was appointed receiver for the Pennsylvania Refining company and under the Roosevelt regime he applied for assistance from the government but for some reason this was not given him. He went ahead independently and secured results which the government has failed to secure against other trusts. Now the Taft administration is undertaking prosecutions for alleged violations of the Sherman law, and it is George H. Earle, Jr., who led the way.

Not in Favor of "Whuppin'."

The Kentucky mother of 14 children, herself unschooled, and all her "does" gathered from experience and "watchin' and studyin' about things," thus comes to a very modern conclusion on family government: "Folks whuppin' children too much. Hittin' ol' folks' meanness what causes whuppin' more than children's deservin' hit. The ol' folks hit her some trouble of their own, an' they'll turn and whup a child, an' hit innocent."

LOCAL AUTOISTS ENJOYED SIGHTS

MANY WENT TO ADJACENT CITIES TO SEE GLIDDEN TOURISTS.

CARS ARE ON LONG JAUNT

Started From Detroit on Monday Last And End Tour at Kansas City After Long Journey.

While Janesville was not on the official route of the Glidden automobile tour many local enthusiasts went to adjacent cities to witness the sight of the thirty odd cars that comprise the brigade of automobiles who are making the long journey from Detroit to Kansas City. The cars stopped last night at Madison and continued their journey this morning.

TROPHY CUPS FOR GLIDDEN TOUR.

Cups from left to right—Detroit cup for miniature tonneau and double runbles. Glidden trophy for heavy cars in center. Hower trophy for runabout on right.

way to Denver with return to Kansas City in the sixth annual endurance run of the American Automobile association, commonly known as the Glidden tour.

The tour this year seems assured of being the most interesting and important of any yet held, as it is the most arduous that has been projected. The distance is a thousand miles more than that of any previous contest for the Glidden trophy and the route leads the participants into territory not previously traveled and there will be many novel features. In previous years the Glidden trophy has been won on tours through the eastern states, but now the cars are to have a drive of nearly 1,300 miles westward from Detroit to Denver and then 750 miles back to Kansas City where the tour will disband.

The route is indicated more fully by the following itinerary giving the principal places passed between the night stops:

Detroit, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Michigan; South Bend, La Porte, Indiana; Chicago, Waukegan, Illinois; Racine, Milwaukee, Madison, La Crosse, Wisconsin; St. Paul, Minneapolis, Mankato, Minnesota; Fort Dodge, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Omaha, Fremont, Grand Island, Kearney, Cozad, North Platte, Nebraska; Julesburg, Fort Morgan, Denver, Colorado Springs, Hugo, Colorado; Sharon Springs, Oakley, Hays, Salina, Topeka, and Kansas City.

It is notable that the conditions for the 1909 tour are wholly different from those of former years. For the first time the Glidden trophy is up as a prize for an individual, it will no longer go to a club nor be competed for by teams. In order to permit of this and of the increased distance, it was necessary that the deed of gift be altered and this was done with the consent of the donor, Charles J. Glidden.

Besides the Glidden trophy there are two others, each of which becomes the permanent possession of its winner this year. First of these is the Hower trophy for runabouts, donated by P. B. Hower, chairman of the A. A. A. contest board, and manager of the tour; this will be the third Hower trophy to be awarded. The other prize is a new one offered under unusual circumstances. It is a trophy for the miniature tonneau car making the best score and is known as the Detroit cup. In appreciation of the honor of having the tour start from their city, the Detroit city council agreed to donate a trophy to be competed for by miniature tonneau cars.

The rules for 1909 are more strict than any former set and cars will be penalized in fractional marks for any work done on them. All the extra parts and tools carried will be listed. An observer will ride in each car and there will be an inspection of the parts and tools at the finish and perhaps during the tour. The system of penalization has been admirably worked out to tenths of a point, so as to make it reasonably certain that a winner will be evolved, and yet no car heavily penalized for repairs that are trivial and quite ordinary. The cars will be divided into five classes this year, as follows:

- Class A—Cars listed at $3,751 and upwards.
- Class B—Cars listed at $2,451 to $3,750, inclusive.
- Class C—Cars listed at $1,751 to $2,450, inclusive.
- Class D—Cars listed at $1,001 to $1,750, inclusive.
- Class E—Cars listed at $399 and under.

Sam Kneller and Fred Koplan of the company are in the city and are now arranging to reorganize the company and increasing its capital from $25,000 to $50,000. The audience was made up largely of persons who were born in the north of Ireland. It was the section of Emerald Isle which was (Ella Gingles' birthplace, and many of those present knew the girl when she wore short dresses and her hair in a braid. Rev. Ryan, his voice choking with emotion, laid his hand lightly on the girl's bowed head and said:

"Does this girl look like a thief? Does she look like the moral degenerate the police and her accusers would have you believe?"

There was a mighty swelling cry from the congregation of "No, No, No," and in a moment women were weeping, while men came forward to grasp the girl's hand and offer her financial assistance. For nearly half an hour the church was the scene of

DRAFAHL'S NAME NOT ON OFFICIAL LIST

List Made Out by New State Game Warden Contains Many Surprises Thus Far.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Madison, Wis., July 15.—Governor Davidson has given his approval to the sixty-day appointments of forty deputy game wardens, as selected by Chief Warden Rickeman. The list contains a number of surprises, among them the appointment of former chief warden J. W. Stone, who was dropped from the state office in the campaign with the $2,500 Stephenson campaign fund, or possibly because of the effect of his testimony concerning the collection of the $1,200 campaign contribution which he handed to Governor Davidson. Mr. Stone is made a deputy game warden assigned to Madison and it is said he will be engaged in a central office work, succeeding A. W. Gratz who failed of reappointment after some ten years of continuous service.

Another disappointment that is surprising to some is that of H. A. Bowman of Gossesope, Waukesha county, who "divided" with Warden Stone the $2,500 which the latter received from the Stephenson campaign headquarters. "Nels Johnson" of Madison, who told of the wardens' "frame up" meeting at the home of Warden Stone, has been reappointed. These appointments last for 60 days. In the meantime Warden Rickeman, with the assistance of the civil service commission, will conduct a thorough examination for permanent appointments.

The name of Peter Drafaul of Rock county does not appear in the list.

MANY INTERESTED IN GINGLES TRIAL

Progress of Hearing in Chicago Court Is Read with Much Interest by Janesville People.

Whether it is the lure of sensation or merely a morbid curiosity or a feeling of pity for the little Irish lace-maker, Janesville people seem much interested in the trial of Ella Gingles in the Chicago courts. Several times persons have called up the Gazette seeking information relative to the trial and its progress, showing that it is being closely kept track of.

Whether the girl is guilty of the theft of the lace as charged, whether she was really puffed and wheeled or not remains to be proven, but the fact that the case has been taken into a Chicago minister adds interest to the case from a humanitarian point of view.

The public sentiment in favor of Ella Gingles in her comber charges of an attempt to force her into

JANESVILLE CAN HAVE CONVENTION

WISCONSIN ASSOCIATION OF FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS' ANNUAL MEETING.

UP TO THE LOCAL AGENTS

Convention Would Be Held Some Time in September and Be Well Attended.

While Janesville has never posed as a great convention city, still it should not lose an opportunity of securing a convention if it is possible to get it. Conventions being possible of other municipalities from all parts of the state and do much to boost the city they are held in. At present Janesville has the change of securing the coming gathering of the Wisconsin Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents the first part of September, or in other words it is up to the local agents' association of Janesville whether they do or not.

The Wisconsin Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents is composed of agents of fire insurance companies in all the large cities of the state and in a part of the general association which is national in its scope, it would mean that several hundred delegates from all parts of the state would be here for the session held from other visitors who would be attracted here by the presence of the meeting which will be of state wide interest.

O. S. Morse, who is president of the state association, said this morning: "Janesville can have the convention if the local agents' association wants it. Oakbrook has entertained us, as has Milwaukee and Janesville is in line for the gathering this year. Of course the cost of the convention will fall on the local association and a meeting will probably be called within a few days to decide definitely on the proposition. A trip up the river with a picnic supper at some suitable place might be one of the features of entertainment as well as automobile rides."

The officers of the state association and other committees are as follows: President, O. S. Morse, Janesville; 1st Vice-President, E. K. Anson, Green Bay; 2d Vice-President, Jos. JANESVILLE CAN HAVE CONVENTION

WISCONSIN ASSOCIATION OF FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS' ANNUAL MEETING.

UP TO THE LOCAL AGENTS

Convention Would Be Held Some Time in September and Be Well Attended.

While Janesville has never posed as a great convention city, still it should not lose an opportunity of securing a convention if it is possible to get it. Conventions being possible of other municipalities from all parts of the state and do much to boost the city they are held in. At present Janesville has the change of securing the coming gathering of the Wisconsin Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents the first part of September, or in other words it is up to the local agents' association of Janesville whether they do or not.

The Wisconsin Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents is composed of agents of fire insurance companies in all the large cities of the state and in a part of the general association which is national in its scope, it would mean that several hundred delegates from all parts of the state would be here for the session held from other visitors who would be attracted here by the presence of the meeting which will be of state wide interest.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. This Catarrh cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring nature in doing its work. The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'UTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

"I say, Deppingham, you can take her out walking and pick up a crown of fresh rubles every day or so," said Browne.

"Hang it all, Browne, I'm afraid to pluck a violet these days. Every time I stoop over I feel that somebody's going to take a shot at me. I wonder why the beggars select me to shoot at. They're not always popping away at you, Browne. Why is it?"

"It's all right so long as they don't kill you," was Browne's consoling remark.

"By Jove!" said Deppingham, starting up with a look of horror in his eyes, sudden comprehension rushing down upon him. "I wonder if they think I am you, Browne! Horrible!"

The enemy's office hours were from 11 to 5 in the afternoon. Twice a week Miss Pelham came down from the chateau in a gayly bedecked Turkish to sit opposite to him in his stuffy corner of the banking house, his desk between them, her notebook trembling with propriety. Mr. Britt generously lent the port lady to the enemy in exchange for what he catalogued as "happy days."

Miss Pelham made it a point to look as fascinating as possible on the occasion of these interesting trips into the enemy's territory.

The enemy, doing his duty by his clients with a determination that seemed incontestable, was the last to realize that an intrigue was shaping itself to combat his endeavors. Von Blitz, openly his friend and ally, despite their feud and encounter, was the thorn which pricked the natives into a state of uneasiness and doubt as to their agent's sincerity.

"They began to believe that no good could come out of the daily meetings of the three lawyers."

It was Von Blitz who told the leading men of the island that their wives—the Persians, the Circassians, the Egyptians and the Turkish housewives—in love with the tall stranger. It was he who advised them to observe the actions, to study the moods of their women.

The German knew the condition of affairs in his own household. His overthrow at the hands of the American had cost him more than physical agony; his wives openly expressed an admiration for their champion. Every eye in Japan was upon him; every hand was turning against him.

It was Miss Pelham who finally took it upon herself to warn the lonely American. "The look of surprise and disgust that came into his face brought her up sharply."

"Miss Pelham," he said coldly, "will you be kind enough to carry my condolences to the ladies at court and say that I recommend reading as an antidote for the poison which kindness produces. Neither my home nor my barroom is open to ladies. If you don't mind we'll go on with this report."

Miss Pelham flushed and looked very uncomfortable.

"You're wrong about Lady Deppingham and Mrs. Browne," she began hurriedly. "They're never said anything mean about you. It was just a talk comes from the islanders. Mr. Bowles has told Mr. Britt and Mr. Saunders. He thinks Von Blitz is working against you, and he is sure that all of the men are furiously jealous."

"Perhaps there is something in what you say, I'm grateful to you for preparing me." It had suddenly come to mind that the night before he had seen a man skulking in the vicinity of the bungalow.

"I just thought I'd tell you," murmured Miss Pelham nervously. "I—we don't want to see you get into trouble—none of us."

"Thank you," After a long pause he went on, lowering his voice: "Miss Pelham, I have had a hard time here in more ways than I care to speak of. It may interest you to know that I had decided to resign next month and go home. I'm a living man, and a living man objects to a living death. But I've changed my mind. I'll stick my time out. I've got three months longer to stay, and I'll stay. If Von Blitz thinks he can drive me out, he's mistaken. I'll be here after you and your friends up there have sailed away. Miss Pelham—God bless you, you're all white—and I'll be here when Von Blitz and his wives are dancing to the tunes I play. Now let's get back to work. If Von Blitz is working in the dark, I'll compel him to show his hand. And, Miss Pelham," he concluded very slowly, "I'll promise to use a club, if necessary, to drive the Persian ladies away. So please rest easy on my account."

The next morning the town bustled with a new excitement. A trim, beautiful yacht, flying strange colors, steamed into the little harbor of Anant. Every one knew that the yacht brought the princess who was to visit her ladyship.

The enemy came down from his bungalow, attracted by the unusual and inspiring spectacle of a ship at anchor. A line of anxiety marked his brow. Two figures had watched his windows all night long, sinister shadows that always met his eye when it penetrated the gloom of the moonlit forest.

Lord and Lady Deppingham were on the pier before him. "Excitement and joy illumined her face. Her eyes were sparkling with anticipation. He could almost see that she trembled in her eagerness. He came quite close to them before they saw him. Ecstasy of no doubt was responsible for the very agreeable smile of recognition that she bestowed upon him. The enemy could do no less than to greet him with his pleasantest acknowledgment. His rugged face relaxed into a most charming, winsome smile, half dimpled, half assured.

He passed among the wives of his clients without so much as a sign of recognition, coolly indifferent to the admiring glances that sought his face. The dark, languorous eyes that flashed under a moment before now turned sullen with disappointment. He had ignored their owners.

"I have heard that you expect a visitor," said the enemy in his most agreeable manner.

"Won't you go aboard with us?" asked Deppingham, at a loss for anything better to say. The enemy shook his head and smiled.

"You are very good, but I believe my place is here."

"The princess is to be with me for a month. We expect more sunshine than ever at the chateau," ventured her ladyship.

"I sincerely hope you may be disappointed," said he commiseratingly, frowning himself with his hat. She laughed and understood, but Deppingham was halfway out to the yacht before it became clear to him that the enemy hoped literally, not figuratively.

The enemy sauntered back to the American bar, lonelier than ever before in his life. He now knew what it was that he had missed more than all else—woman.

Britt and Saunders were waiting for him under the evening twilight.

"Hello!" called Britt. "We saw you down there, but couldn't get near. By ginger, old man, I had no idea your Persians were so beautiful. They are oriental gems of—"

"My Persians? What the devil do you mean, Britt? Come in and sit down; I want to talk to you fellows. See here, this talk about these women has got to be stopped. It's dangerous for you, and it's dangerous for me. It is so full of peril that I don't care to look at them, handsome as you say they are. Do you know what I was thinking of as I came over here after leaving one of the most charming of women—your Lady Deppingham? I was thinking what a wretched family there is in women. I'm speaking of women like Lady Deppingham and Mrs. Browne, neither of whom I know, and yet I've known them all my life—the kind of women we love, not the kind who despise or pity. Don't you see? I'm hungry for the very sight of a woman."

"You see Miss Pelham often enough," said Saunders slyly. The enemy was making a pitcher of lemonade.

"My dear Saunders, you are quite right. I do see Miss Pelham often enough. In my present frame of mind I'd feel desperately in love with her if I saw her often." Saunders blinked and glared at him through his pale eyes.

"My word!" he said. Then he got up abruptly and stalked out of the room. Britt laughed heartily.

TWO BURN TO DEATH IN AUTO.

Gasoline Explodes and Covers Car's Occupants with Flames.

Sylvania, Ga., July 15.—Two persons are dead, two mortally injured and four others are seriously hurt as the result of an explosion of the gasoline tank on the touring car of George M. Hill at Jacksonville bridge. Howell Hill, an infant, and Miss Fannie Mills were killed and the fatally injured are George M. Hill, Jr., and Mrs. George M. Hill.

The auto was backed into the bridge, the tank containing compressed gasoline, being ripped off. The fluid was thrown over the occupants and flames quickly spread, covering the entire party.

NEW ENVOY FROM JAPAN.

Takahira May Not Return to America as Ambassador.

Tokyo, July 15.—It is confidently whispered here in well-informed circles that Ambassador Takahira will not return to his post at Washington. He probably will be succeeded by K. Uchida, at present representing the Japanese government at Vienna.

Washington, July 15.—Through Mr. Hanbary, his secretary of embassy, Ambassador Takahira made it known that he had positively nothing to say regarding the dispatch from Tokyo naming K. Uchida as his probable successor at Washington.

Weston Reaches San Francisco.

San Francisco, July 15.—Edward Payson Weston, the 70-year-old pedestrian, who left New York on March 17 to walk across the continent in 100 days, exclusive of Sundays, arrived in San Francisco this morning. He reached Oakland at nine o'clock last night and walked about five miles on the Oakland side to make up for the ferry ride across the bay.

BANK OFFICER ARRESTED ON $100,000 THEFT CHARGE

Forgery of $5,000 Check Barred Huge Shortage in New Orleans Man's Accounts.

New Orleans, July 15.—It is believed today that further startling revelations may follow the arrest last night of Wyatt H. Ingram, Jr., trust officer of the Hibernian Bank & Trust Company on charges of forgery and embezzlement.

It is alleged that he is between $75,000 and $100,000 short in his accounts.

Ingram was said to be too ill when the arresting officers reached his home to accompany them to the police station, but District Attorney Adams insisted that the accused be brought to prison without delay. This was done.

It was reported that Ingram had made an attempt at suicide, but this is without confirmation. It is believed rather that the strain under which he has labored and the recent excessive heat resulted in his partial collapse.

The trust officer is said to have confessed to Vice-President Pool of the Hibernia bank that his defaultation would approximate $100,000. It is stated that a check for $5,000, on which Ingram forged the signature of a prominent business man of New Orleans, led to the disclosure of the embezzlements and forgeries now charged against him.

Ingram stood high in business and social circles of New Orleans. He is a native of Henderson county, Kentucky, and is 34 years old. He has been a resident of New Orleans six years. His family connections in Kentucky, Maryland and other southern states are prominent.

Officers of the Hibernia bank state that the loss is not sufficient to affect the institution.

WRIGHTS TO ASK MORE TIME.

Accidents to Aeroplanes Probably Will Require Further Extension.

Washington, July 15.—The Wright brothers, on account of the various unfortunate incidents that have happened since their arrival at Fort Myer, may find it necessary to obtain a further extension of time from July 28 in which to complete their official aeroplane speed and endurance trials.

Up to this time Orville Wright has not made one flight that can be called as successful as the average flight made by him at Fort Myer last September. At that time, within one week after making his first flight, he was engaged in friendly rivalry with his brother, Wilbur, who was flying in France and smashing world's records.

LEAVES MYSTERY UNEXPLAINED.

Hunt's Body in Klinger Lake, Where Girl Drowned.

Sturgis, Mich., July 15.—The body of Claude Hunt was recovered from the bottom of Klinger lake, about 100 feet from the spot where the body of Miss Mary Loretta Davy of Chicago was found Monday.

While the recovery of Hunt's body conclusively shows that the tragedy was a double drowning and explosion, the cause of the drownings will doubtless never be fully explained.

Calls His Suicide "Little Stunt."

Aberdeen, Wis., July 15.—Tim Thomas of Oshkosh, Wis., who committed suicide here, went to a local dry house and got out a suit of clothes. "I'm going to pull off a little stunt today and I'd like to have that suit of mine," he said. He then went to his boarding house and shot himself in the abdomen.

John W. Brown Killed by Car.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—John W. Brown, believed to be from Indianapolis, was struck and instantly killed by an electric car.

Later she telephoned Dr. Lench to save the children, but permit her to die. The infant child died a short time after the doctor had reached the scene. It is probable the mother and the other three children will recover.

Noted Bridge Will Be Wrecked.

Washington, July 15.—The old Anacostia bridge over which John Wilkes Booth sped his horse to escape from an infuriated city the night he shot Lincoln is to be torn down soon. It is more than half a century old.

J. P. Morgan Sails for America.

A lady from California writes in substance as follows: "I have been using your wonderful hair growth remedy for several months and I feel now that I have a wonderful growth of hair. I have never before had so much hair. I feel now that I have a head of hair as thick as any I have ever had."

This Great Hair-Growing Remedy can now be had at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

Free To show how quickly Danderine works, we will send you a sample free. Return to us a coupon from this paper and we will send you a sample of Danderine free of charge.

40 YEARS AGO

Jamesville Daily Gazette, July 15, 1869.—Thanks, Mr. Roberts, the first, has our thanks for a beautiful bouquet.

Telegraph.—No telegraph news or market report received today.

The Weather.—This locality was wet down by a small shower this morning. The thermometer this afternoon indicated 82 in the shade.

The Rachel Journal.—General Utley has started on his fifth year of the Rachel Journal, which he has made one of the most popular, original and interesting papers that comes to our table. We have his fifth anniversary may be multiplied by five.

Dr. J. H. Stated.—A large company of Dr. J. H. Stated went through this city on Wednesday last, on the occasion of the exercises of the graduating class and the dedication of Memorial Hall. The orations by the graduates were of the highest order, but they were spoken of in the highest terms by those who did hear them.

The degree of A. B. was conferred upon the graduating class, that of A. B. upon the class of '36, and the honorary degree of A. M. upon James R. Danforth of Chicago. The degree of D. D. was conferred on Rev. John J. Miller, of New York, and Rev. Plavol Bascorn, of Princeton, N. J. United States Senators, Timothy O. Howe and the Hon. Matt. H. Carpenter, the latter of the alumni, were honored with the degrees of LL. D.

In the afternoon the exercises at the dedication of Memorial Hall took place, commencing in the Congregational Church and ending in the grove in front of the hall. Memorial Hall, a beautiful building of stone, rough hewn, and covering an area of about sixty feet square, is located in the center of the southern portion of the grounds, and in plain sight of the surrounding country for miles around. The building is constructed in the Gothic style of architecture, two very high stories in height and is really an honor to the projectors and an ornament to the city of Beloit. Professor Emerson made an interesting statement of the part which the graduates of the College took in the great rebellion and then followed Mr. Carpenter's oration which we have alluded to in another place. After the exercises at the church, the audience adjourned to the grove, where several addresses were made and the hall formally dedicated. General Hasbrouck Davis, General Brown, General A. C. Fuller and Congressman Farnsworth of Illinois, and others delivered short addresses. The exercises were closed by the benedictory prayer, a hymn, and the firing of 45 guns in honor of the gallant dead who have fallen in this beautiful building has been erected. It was a great day for Beloit, and we congratulate its citizens upon having located within its limits an institution of such high character and so full of promise for the future.

Can't Be Forgotten. You cannot be forgotten, or forget it, but the thing you cannot get rid of if you would live any life above that of the brute.—Principal Sharp.

ITCHING ERUPTIONS QUICKLY COOLED. Just a few drops of Oil of Wintergreen properly compounded and washed into the skin will take away instantly the worst kind of itch.

If you are suffering with any kind of skin trouble, such as Summer-itch, prickly heat, poison ivy, poison oak, etc., you can rid yourself of the itch in ten seconds by washing with Oil of Wintergreen compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. Physicians recognize D. D. D. as the standard for eczema and psoriasis, and it has certainly been found invaluable for all other skin diseases.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

I WENT to a wedding last week and the bride's face looked as if it had been carved out of marble and whitened with chalk.

Was she being married against her will to the choice of her parents? Oh, no, it was far more tragic than that. There was a cause for the application of the labor laws. She had been working twelve to fourteen hours a day for the two weeks preceding the wedding and for the last day or two—since the presents began to arrive—sixteen hours.

The fashions, to whom the roses that had almost bloomed in her cheeks and should have blossomed at her wedding night had been so cruelly sacrificed, were simply and solely the great gods—Convention and Ceremony.

Nor had it been such a very elaborate wedding. It was simply that she was a popular girl and there were the usual congratulations, showers and goodie luncheons and so forth, and she had made most of her trousseau herself, and had opened and arranged all her gifts personally and supervised most of the smaller details of the occasion that everything might be as near perfection as possible.

Of course one can have but one wedding in one's life—at least one hopes so at the time—and of course it is desirable to see that every detail of that is carried out in a satisfactory manner. But from a purely pictorial standpoint—if from no other—it is foolish to sacrifice the appearance of the "star attraction" to the perfection of minor details.

When the wedding guest returns from the reception, do the stay-at-homes first ask, "Were the girls well?" or "Were the girls well employed?" No, they chorus instantly—at least the feminine portion of them—"How did the bride look?"

This is the recipe the sweetest, most graceful bride I ever saw gave me for her poise and poiselessness.

"Two weeks before I was married," she said, "I dropped everything and went out in the country to grandma's farm and staid there until two days before the wedding. I didn't have all the things that I had planned done, but the things that weren't finished were those that could wait until I got back from my honeymoon and I enjoyed having them to do. I had to decline several lovely invitations and I didn't write a thank note until I got back or even see half my wedding presents. But it was quite worth while."

A few less yards of lace on the wedding petticoat; one less set of lingerie; a less punctilious acknowledgment of gifts; a few more hours of sleep; a few more moments spent possessing your soul in peace and communion with your happiness; a rigid refusal to wear yourself out in fretting over details; and after it's all over your world will be saying—as you always hoped it would—"What a lovely bride she was."

Stockyards to Be Beautified.

Unoccupied places in the Chicago stockyards are to be made to bloom. Instead of unattractive lanes and pens and roadways and great bare stretches of flower beds, with here and there buildings surrounded with shrubbery. The scheme originated by J. Ogden Ahearn, and the first fruits of his plan may be seen at the general offices of Armour & Co., where bright flowers are in bloom all around the buildings. The packers hope that the visitors to the yards will find comfort in the flowers and shrubbery after they have listened to the thousand and one grating noises which fill the air at all hours of the day.

Foolish Vanity. Vanity is the most disturbing element in the world. It constantly keeps one upset. We can comfortably endure all wounds except the wounds to self-esteem. Vanity is over-sensitive. It finds unkindness where only love and kindness exist. Pride is dignified and worthy, but vanity has an empty head. We all think too much of ourselves. In the millions of human beings, only a few stand out in living portraits. Most of us are merely bits of the crowd in the background of the picture.

Bryan's Letter Unanswered. Washington, July 15.—The letter written by William J. Bryan to President Taft, suggesting that he take steps to have the question of the election of senators by the people referred to a vote of the states along with the proposed income tax amendment, had not reached the White House last night. It is not considered likely, however, that the president will do more than courteously acknowledge receipt of the letter.

Papke Beaten by Flynn. Los Angeles, Cal., July 15.—In ten rounds of vicious fighting, Jim Flynn of Pueblo, Colo., bested Billy Papke of Spring Valley, Ill., before the Pacific Athletic club last night. Of the ten rounds Flynn had a decided lead in four and found Papke even, Flynn outweighed Papke eight pounds.
